Hi Raj,

Thank you!!!! for your time, your effort and most importantly the value you brought to us on Thursday. The content was very good.

As you know, The Brain Trust-III is a Peer Group made up of leading Atlanta area Vice Presidents. We're a hard group to please in that we are always looking for hard hitting information and advice that will directly impact the success of our businesses.

In your presentation, you showed us how to apply entrepreneurial thinking in the company. Of particular value to me, I came to understand the importance of my mood in motivating and influencing people.

Thanks, again.

Regards,

Tom

His dynamic speaking style captivated the audience and encouraged them to reflect on their goals, mood, and the importance of mindset.

We were very grateful to have him speak for our members and look forward to his coming back to future conferences.

Raj,

On behalf of Follow Your Dreams Inc., we would like to thank you for coming to the girls' basketball camp to speak with girls about consistently playing at the top of their game. When you spoke about having the right mindset, mood, and motivation to stay at the top of the game, I noticed the girls were very attentive and focused on the message you were conveying.

Having the right attitude to reflect a positive spirit is very powerful! The girls absorbed the information and brought a different attitude to camp the remainder of the time.

Once again, thank you for reaching out to these young ladies and hopefully you helped change someone's life.

Sincerely,

Rhonda Mapp

To Whom It May Concern:

Vedic Center of Greenville, established in 1989, is a voluntary non-profit organization that serves as a forum for cultural interaction for individuals and families in Greater Greenville area that have links with Indian Sub-continent.

Vedic Center conducts several activities through out the year that foster community interaction, undertake community service and contribute towards building collective image & identity.

It is with great pleasure and admiration, we write this letter for Raj Gavurla, ace coach, motivational speaker and celebrated author. We are proud that Raj belongs to our own Greenville and grew up in this area.

Raj Gavurla, recently conducted a seminar based on his popular book "Winning at Entrepreneurship" on August 28th, 2009 at Ahimsa Hall under the auspices of Vedic Center of Greenville.

Raj did an extremely commendable job of articulating the qualities of an entrepreneur and leader. His speech was intense and full of real life experiences.

The command on the language and the skill of getting the audience focussed towards his thoughts was amazing.

The highlight was the discussion on the topic of "moving from a fixed mindset to a growth mindset" was very educative besides captivating.

The audiences thoroughly enjoyed and were exposed to "how to achieve solutions" for their highest priority problems via an interactive demonstration of Raj's research.

We are very thankful to Raj Gavurla for conducting this seminar and enlightening the audience with his innovative ideas and above all provided immense motivation to take charge of one's life and problems.

Raj is a Hero and asset to Greenville community !

Raj Gavurla is an inspirational speaker and motivator. Raj spoke at AHEPA One apartments for our senior citizens on Mental Health Mindset & Wellness.

Raj was able to capture the attention of his audience and engage them to participate. This was not an easy accomplishment, due to the majority of our residents who are non-English speaking. Raj was able to work with our translator and was very effective.

Raj is very committed to his work and inspired us all to live the best life we can, no matter what are circumstances may be. He is to be commended for his work.

Dear Raj,

Thank you for speaking at our new Buckhead Business Network in December. Your program taught our audience some common sense strategies that we often forget in our steps to entrepreneurship. By covering topics such as strong relationships, marketing, sales skills, and mental toughness then adding networking, we all walked away with new found knowledge.

Thank you so much for your interest in Professional Network Connections and if I can ever be of any assistance please don't hesitate to let me know.

Forever in your debt,

Debbie

Dear Raj:

I want to thank you for the best and most relevant presentation anyone has ever made at a NAMI Dekalb educational meeting. You tailored your remarks to the group perfectly. I will continue to stress your points to myself and our members at every opportunity. Everyone leaving the presentation was in a better state of mind than they were before coming. It was a joy to see how empowered they all were.

I hope you will join us for our holiday party on December 13, 2007. You should receive an invitation soon.

I am enclosing my $20 for your book. I got the book but forgot to give you the check.

King Regards,

Dear Raj:

Thank you for speaking at the monthly meeting of ISA-Atlanta Section on Saturday, 27 August 2005. Your seminar presentation on ISA's Certified Automation Professional (CAP) Program was very well received by our members. The information in your speech and the additional reference material you provided were both fascinating, detailed and timely. Our only regret is that we allowed only four hours to learn & discuss this new program with you. Our greatest benefit by attending this seminar was a new "can-do" attitude towards of a complex process of submitting the application and preparing for the test. Reaching this new plateau of credentials will enhance our marketability in the automation and controls world.

We hope that you enjoyed meeting the members of the Atlanta Section and that you will consider returning in the future to present another seminar.

Thank you again for taking the time to speak at our meeting.

Sincerely,

To Whom It May Concern:

Raj Gavurla spoke at our NAMI Greenville membership meeting in November 2004. Raj is an inspirational and motivational speaker. He tells his story from the heart and inspires others to go beyond where they are today.

As the Executive Director of NAMI Greenville, I feel fortunate to have had Raj speak to our support group about an issue that is close to all of our hearts and addressing our members concerns regarding their fears of moving forward.

I would highly recommend Raj as a motivational speaker for any group. His message is pertinent to everyone.

Sincerely,
